1. Warranty Coverage

Veltrixora laptops are covered under a standard warranty for 12 months from the invoice date.

Covered failures may include motherboard failure, internal power failure, display failure without visible external damage, keyboard failure due to manufacturing defect, and charging port failure under normal use.

Warranty service is available only when the product serial number matches the invoice, product label, or purchase record.

2. Exclusions

The warranty does not cover physical damage, accidental drop damage, cracked display, liquid damage, burnt marks due to external power surge, unauthorized repair, missing serial label, or cosmetic wear and tear.

Software issues caused by third-party applications, unsupported operating system changes, or user-modified firmware are not treated as hardware warranty defects.

3. Required Documents

Document	When Required
Invoice copy	Mandatory for all laptop warranty claims.
Product serial number	Mandatory for verification.
Service request number	Required if the customer already visited a service center.
Product photos	Required when physical damage is disputed.
Inspection report	Required when the claim was rejected by the service center.

4. Rejection Review

If a laptop claim is rejected due to physical damage, the customer may request written inspection details and submit supporting product photos for review.

A review request must be submitted within 7 working days from the rejection message or service report date.

5. Claim Process

A claim request must include product category, purchase date, invoice copy, product serial number or IMEI where applicable, and a short description of the issue.

The claim team may request photos, videos, diagnostic screenshots, service request number, or inspection report depending on the issue type.

Approval is subject to policy conditions and inspection outcome. This document does not guarantee approval for every claim.

6. Service Timeline

Initial diagnosis is normally completed within 3 to 5 working days after the product reaches the authorized service center.

If the repair remains unresolved beyond 10 working days after diagnosis, the customer may request service escalation using the service request number.
